CASE AT SHREVEPORT WATERWAY IS OPENED

Traveling Man From Chicago Held In Detention Camp.

HUNDREDS DEPARTED

Barney Tracey, the Party Who Has the Yellow Fever, Was at New Orleans, but Stopped Only a Few Hours.

Shreveport, Aug. 2.—Barney Tracey, a travelling man out of Chicago, is in the detention camp just outside the corporate limits of this city suffering from yellow fever. There are no other cases in the detention camp nor any case in the city. Tracey has been isolated since his arrival here Sunday and the health authorities are confident that this sporadic case will be confined to this one patient. The infection has been traced directly to New Orleans, although Tracey spent but a few hours in that city.

When the existence of the disease at the doors of the city became known Tuesday through an official diagnosis by Dr. G. C. Chandler, in charge of the detention camp, confirmed by Drs. Gray, Furman and Eaves, the latter special health officer of Texas stationed here, there was almost a panic, several hundred people leaving on through trains. A vast majority of the population, however, show no alarm, but are redoubling their efforts to perfect the work of sanitation commenced a week ago. A shotgun quarantine was established four days ago and it was due to the efficient work of the guards that Tracey was prevented from coming into the city.

Dr. J. Eaves, yellow fever expert of Texas, says: "All danger of infection from this patient is past. A yellow fever patient cannot transmit the germ to a mosquito after three days' illness. Tracey had been suffering more than seventy-two hours when he arrived at the detention camp. I have thoroughly examined the detention camp and find it ideally located and arranged. The fever cannot by any possible means spread at the Shreveport detention camp."

SIX DEATHS TUESDAY.

Total Number of New Cases Placed at Forty-Two.

New Orleans, Aug. 2.—Tuesday witnessed an increase in the number of deaths from yellow fever, a fact that was not unexpected of the high temperature that prevailed for two days. There was, however, the usual large preponderance of Italian names in the list, both of new cases and deaths which has characterized the reports since the time when the fever was first officially announced as existing here.

Following was the record up to 6 o'clock Tuesday evening: New cases, 42; total cases to date, 346; deaths, 6; total deaths to date, 69; new foci, 4; total foci to date, 50.

The relations between the states of Louisiana and Mississippi have reached an acute stage and from indications it will change from interviews about the concealment of cases to a much more serious matter. From information that has come to hand the dignity of the state of Louisiana has been offended by an armed invasion from the sister state, and Tuesday morning Governor Blanchard communicated with the captain of the naval brigade which has a fully equipped gunboat with a view of having it dispatched to the borders.

THOROUGHLY FORTIFIED.

Dr. Florence Says Southeast Texas Is Being Well Looked After.

Beaumont, Aug. 2.—Dr. Florence, the personal representative of Dr. Tabor, has been in and out of Beaumont visiting both Echo, the Southern Pacific crossing, and Ruliff, the Kansas City Southern Louisiana crossing. He thinks that southeast Texas is thoroughly fortified against any admission of the fever. From his conversation it is evident that he thinks there will be no yellow fever in Texas unless it is already in the state and has not been developed.

Dr. Florence went to Echo to put on more guards and then over the Orange and Northwestern railway to the Kansas City Southern. He took from the Kansas City Southern train thirteen people and put them in camp, where they will remain six days.

Mississippi and Louisiana Authorities at Loggerheads.

Memphis, Aug. 2.—A special to the Commercial-Appeal from Baton Rouge, La., says a clash between the Mississippi and Louisiana authorities over quarantine regulations is imminent.

A private dispatch was received in the city stating that Mississippi soldiers, employed as quarantine guards, had invaded Louisiana soil with arms and that five boats were patrolling the mouth of Roquette lake and Pearl river off the Louisiana coast to prevent Louisiana boats from leaving. Governor Blanchard at once communicated with Brigadier General Parralat of his staff and Captain J. W. Bostwick commanding the state's naval militia, directing them to investigate and report to him.

Governor Blanchard telegraphed Governor Vardaman that no such state of affairs would be tolerated.

St. Mary's Ship Canal Ready For Navigation of Vessels.

MIGHTY ENTERPRISE

Has Three Locks of Magnitude, and Over It Thousands of Tons of Freight Can Be Annually Transported.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 2.—With the city crowded with thousands of visitors and with hundreds of yards of bunting in the breeze from all buildings on both the American and Canadian sides of St. Mary's river a salute at sunrise from government ships in the harbor opened the two days' celebration of the semi-centennial opening of St. Mary's ship canal, which connects Lake Superior with the lower lakes. Fifty years ago the first ship canal around the rapids in St. Mary's river was completed and was opened with two locks 350 feet in length and a depth of thirteen feet. Now the American canal has two locks—one 510 feet long, the other 800 feet long and twenty-one feet deep, while there is also a Canadian lock 1000 feet in length. More traffic passes through these three locks than through any similar waterway in the world.

Vice President Fairbanks, Governor Warner of Michigan and staff, United States Senator Burrows of Michigan, Congressman Burton of Ohio, Hon. William Livingston, president of the Lake Carriers' association, Charles T. Harvey of Toronto, who constructed the original locks, and Miss Betty Poe, daughter of General O. M. Poe, who constructed the Poe lock, were among the distinguished visitors present at the celebration. Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, solicitor general of Canada and a party of Canadian officers also participated. The first day was devoted to naval and military parades.

Commemoration exercises will be held and addresses made by President Peter White of the semi-centennial celebration committee, Governor Warner, Vice President Fairbanks and a number of other prominent guests.

FITZHUGH WELL KNOWN.

Last Surviving Officer of the Confederate States Senate.

Dallas, Aug. 2.—Lafayette H. Fitzhugh, who dropped dead at St. Louis, was the last known survivor of the Confederate States senate, having been sergeant at arms of that body during nearly all its entire existence. He also commanded a part of the first forces organized at Richmond, Va., his native city, for defense of the Confederate capital.

After the war Colonel Fitzhugh moved to Texas from Virginia. He became noted as the Democratic door-keeper of the national house of representatives at Washington thirty years ago through the widely published statement that he was a "bigger man than old Grant," General Grant at that time being president.

During the last twenty-five years Colonel Fitzhugh has been prominently identified with the promoting of railroad enterprises of Texas and was also connected with the oil business in the fields near Nacogdoches. For more than a year past his health has been poor and he had spent much time at Mineral Wells and other resorts.

BACK TO EIGHT HOURS.

Land and Immigration Agents of International Meet at Austin.

Austin, Aug. 2.—The long drawn out fight between labor unions of Austin and city's water and light commission came to an end by the commission deciding to return to the eight-hour shift at the city's water and light plant. When the new commission took charge it changed the shifts from eight to twelve hours, but pressure was so great it changed back to the old system.

About fifty land and immigration agents of the International and Great Northern railway met here in semi-annual session. Purpose of meeting was to encourage immigration from northern points to Texas.

Died Preparing Breakfast.

San Antonio, Aug. 2.—While preparing breakfast Wednesday morning Mrs. Sarah McKay, aged fifty-six years, fell dead. She is survived by ten children.

Will Be Represented.

Tangier, Aug. 2.—The United States government has informed the foreign office that it will send a representative to the international conference on Morocco reforms.

LINES DRAWN CLOSER.

Texarkana Heads the List of Rigorous Quarantines.

Little Rock, Aug. 2.—The various cities of Arkansas are continuing to quarantine and draw the lines closer, and Texarkana, Pine Bluff, Helena, Forrest City, Arkansas City and Newport have all declared quarantine against New Orleans and all infected points. Texarkana heads the list in vigorous precautions, having notified all railroad officials that trains between Shreveport and Texarkana and connecting lines must cease running. Night trains from Pine Bluff to Alexandria, La., have been taken off because of quarantine restrictions.

Negro Got Away.

Jennings, La., Aug. 2.—An unknown negro tried to pass the guards at Mermentau detention camp on a freight train. James Allen and another guard pulled him off. He scuffled and ran. During a chase of two miles he fired a revolver at the guards when told to halt. Allen exchanged shots from a 41 Colt's carrying a .38 ball, which failed to strike the negro. The negro circled around and caught a freight train.

Militia to Act as Guards.

Little Rock, Aug. 2.—Governor Davis issued an order directing General Haynes, commander of the State Guard, to detail as many men as may be necessary to establish a strict state quarantine against all points where yellow fever may exist. The militia will act as guards upon all trains entering the state and at all points where boats may land. This action was necessary, because the state board of health has no funds with which to enforce the quarantine ordered.

No Favoritism.

Galveston, Aug. 2.—State Health Officer Tabor was flooded Tuesday with telegrams from friends, acquaintances and business men of Texas and Louisiana who are at present in the latter state, but who wish to be passed to the former, asking that an exception be made in their cases and that they be permitted to pass quarantine lines. He will show no favoritism.

Many Union Drivers Have Also Been Restored to Their Positions.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Police have been removed from man wagons of firms that have been strike bound for months. Correspondingly many union drivers are restored to their old places. The Employers' association, following the determination of the Lumbermen's association to reinstate union teamsters in a body, decided to lift the ban placed on all strikers a week ago. This action was taken despite the fact that Coal Teamsters' union has ignored employers' threat not to rehire any strikers until all should vote to call the strike-off. The boycott against the five big coal companies is still on.

T., Aug. 2.—In the presence of 2000 people Professor Baze, an aeronaut and tight rope performer, had saturated suit of clothes with gasoline and set fire to it and was making an incline shot expecting to plunge into a tank of water at the lower end of the rope, when his trapeze broke and let him fall. He fell twenty feet and struck an iron awning, then fell ten feet to the ground, a mass of flames and injury. Great difficulty was experienced in extinguishing the flames and stripping off the burning clothes. He was taken to a doctor's office in a critical condition.

AWFUL ATROCITY.

Body Had Been Struck With Stick and Finger Nearly Severed.

New Orleans, Aug. 2.—The body of Ignatius Fretzinger, a night watchman employed by the Boylan agency, detailed on duty at the Alcove box factory, at Water and Napoleon avenues, was found floating in the river bearing wounds that pointed to one of the most cold-blooded atrocities ever recorded in this community. Robbery was the motive of the crime, and was evidently committed by two or more men. One of the assassins used a heavy oak stick and struck the watchman a blow on the head fracturing his skull. The other used a razor or some other keen instrument as it left the index finger nearly severed by it. The only clew to the crime left by the assassins was the bloody stick with which the crime was committed. The body was placed on a truck and wheeled to the river, about 100 feet away, and then thrown down a vault into the waters below. Fretzinger said he had about $30 on his person before leaving home. The money and pocket-book are missing, also a cheap watch and chain.

GUNBOAT BENNINGTON.

the court of inquiry now investigating the Bennington disaster. It may be stated authoritatively the court will find boiler B of the Bennington exploded not because of unusually high pressure, but because the metal crown sheet and bolts holding that crown sheet in place had become "dead," had lost all life and nearly all tensile strength by reason of constant use and failure to renew weakened places during the twenty years that the ill-fated Bennington had been in service. The court will not censure the officers of the Bennington, but pass up the matter and responsibility to higher authority."

CONTROLLED BY MOB.

Dug Up Blocks and Stones and Threw Them at Police.

San Juan, Aug. 2.—As the outcome of the longshoremen's strike for increase of wages to 25 cents an hour which has been in progress for a month, the greater portion of San Juan was under control of a mob between 7 and 9 o'clock Tuesday night. The mob, in which there were about 1000 armed persons, dug up paving blocks and stones and with these and other missiles rushed through the streets fighting the police, who were armed with rifles and fired scores of shots, but mostly in the air. One person was killed and there are forty injured in hospitals, three or four of whom may die. At 8 o'clock, while the main police force was engaged with the rioters, another mob mainly composed of young men and boys threw stones at arc lights in the main streets, with the result that nearly the entire city was in total darkness all night. At 3 o'clock mobs sought refuge in a disreputable district in which there are no police. This district, however, was surrounded by police, and mounted squads patrolled the city for the remainder of the night. At midnight police, who numbered only 100, had the situation under control. The rioting was preceded by intermittent disturbances, which, however, were not serious.

BOYCOTT EXTENDED.

Very Little American Trade at Nagasaki in Chinese Hands.

Washington, Aug. 2.—A cablegram was received at the state department from American Consul Harris at Nagasaki, stating that the boycott against American's and America's products now prevailing at Shanghai has extended to Nagasaki. This is the first indication of the spread of the movement into Japan, where it probably is beyond the reach of any repressive measures that might be exercised by the Chinese government over its own citizens. It is said at the state department, however, that this last development is not likely to be of importance because very little of the American trade at Nagasaki is in Chinese hands.

All Discharged.

New York, Aug. 2.—Four or five persons taken from the steamer San Jacinto, from Galveston, and sent to Hoffman's Island for observation as to fever symptoms were discharged from quarantine.

Not Surrounded.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 2.—General Linevitch has telegraphed to the emperor denying the frequently published reports that his army was completely surrounded. He says that the army has never been in a dangerous position.

Proclaimed July 30.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The Japanese legation received a dispatch from Tokyo saying that Lieutenant General Haraguchi proclaimed military administration over Sakhalin Island July 30.

At Mangum, Okla., a boy named Byron Dalton was thrown beneath a merry-go-round and both legs broken.

"Wouldn't It Jar You!"

Once W. C. Gibson, then editor of Puck, took luncheon with Opper, the cartoonist, at his home in Bensonhurst. The host and his guest were smoking postprandial cigars on the veranda when Mr. Opper became convulsed with laughter at the sight of one of his puppies tearing to pieces Mr. Gibson's hat. Gibson was inclined to harsh measures, but Opper reminded him that the dog was only a puppy that knew no better, and the editor became resigned. When Gibson rose to leave Opper offered him the choice of all his hats.

"I don't need one," returned the guest. "It was your hat, not mine." The humor of the situation did not strike the comic artist at once, but later he made use of the incident in one of his celebrated series, "Now, Wouldn't It Jar You?" the question being, "If your dog tore up what you thought was your neighbor's hat and you found it was your own, wouldn't it jar you?"—Everybody's Magazine.

Sindbad's Alleged Prototype.

The story of Sindbad the Sailor is believed to owe a good deal to the legend of St. Brendan, the Kerry saint, whose day is May 16. According to the legend, St. Brendan sailed the ocean for seven years in search of the island that had once been Adam's Eden. During that time he regularly revisited the island of Sheep, where the sheep are as large as oxen; the island of Birds, that are really fallen angels, and another island which is really a big fish named Jason trying to get his tail into his mouth. St. Brendan used to encamp on the fish on Easter day and go on to the birds on Easter Monday. He found the Eden island at last, but no one has seen it since, though it appeared on seventeenth century maps and in an eighteenth century treaty between Spain and Portugal. Probably Irish monks took this legend with them to the east in the ninth century.—London Chronicle.

An Animal Cemetery.

In spite of much agitation upon the subject at various times, lovers of animals have never succeeded in establishing in this country a cemetery as elaborate as those in several European capitals.

The largest and most beautiful animal cemetery is La Necropole Zoologique, in Paris, or, rather, in the suburb of Asnieres. Here a large plot of ground is laid out for the interment of dogs and other animals, and here are erected monuments in every way as handsome as those over the graves of human beings in other cities of the dead.

Some famous dogs have sculptures to mark their memories, and dog kennels in marble are favorite vaults. For $2.50 a grave is leased for three years, and this fee includes the services of a dog undertaker, uniformed and mounted on a tricycle. For $100 a grave may be leased in perpetuity, and between these extremes may be found prices to suit all purposes. The cemetery occupies an entire island in the Seine, and, apart from the rental of graves, the company owning the property makes a handsome profit out of the sale of admission tickets to visitors.

The Race He Won.

In the old whaling days a New Bedford captain fell in with a lot of his "townies" in the Pacific, says the Chicago Record-Herald, and after a landing for water on the coast of South America, began a boat race off shore toward the ships. The old skipper kept muttering to his crew to take it easy. The others jeered him as he fell behind, but he took it cheerfully.

"The race I'm after is the race home," he said. He pointed to a little bight in the rocks into which the crew could just see.

"Ever see that rock in there before?" he asked. "No, I guess not. That's a cow whale and her calf up there on the shore. It's her nursery."

When the others were far enough away to give him a clear field he made for the shore. He got the cow and the calf. The others said very little about the race he did not win, for he was the first man back to New Bedford.

Ups and Downs of Santa Cruz.

Probably no other of the West Indian islands has had such a checkered career as Santa Cruz. In turn it has belonged to Spain, which abandoned it; to England and Holland jointly; to England alone; to Spain again, which fell upon the colonists and destroyed or deported them all; to France, which took it from Spain; to the Knights of Malta, who received it as a gift from France; to a private company of adventurers. Then it was resumed possession of by France, but abandoned, so that in 1720 it was uninhabited. Then it became no man's land until 1727, when France took it again, and presently sold it to a Danish company, which sold it in turn to the king of Denmark. In 1801 England took it once more, gave it back to Denmark, repented and took it away again in a few months, held it for eight years, and then returned it to Denmark, which holds it still.

A woodman entered a wood with his ax on his shoulders. The trees were alarmed and addressed him thus: "Ah, sir, will you not let us live happily some time longer?" "Yes," said the woodman; "I am quite willing to do so, but as often as I see this ax I am tempted to come to the wood and do my work in it, so I am not to blame so much as this ax." "We know," said the trees, "that the handle of the ax, which is a piece of a branch of a tree in this very wood, is more to blame than the iron, for it is that which helps you to destroy its kindred." "You are quite right," said the woodman. "There is no tree so bitter as a renegade."
